Editor's Note

It was my pleasant duty to compile another edition of JazzNotes this month. My thanks to all who contributed.

We have some great content, covering days in the past through to future plans. "In Profile" is a new feature that I reckon you'll enjoy (please let us know): a brief interview with a musician / club member. This month, trombonist Bob Benton shares some of his jazz story.

Paul Bird

editor

Caterina's Chatter

Money is a commodity. It has to flow. Circulate it, don't horde it...

To the readers and followers of our amazing jazz club, it is a privilege to keep you all informed. Your comments are appreciated; the committee and I know that they are very sincere, so thank you for your chats and emails.

August was a month for our senior musicians that have been playing at the club for many years now. The Stevedores, followed by That's Jazz, before the talented young Roaring Twenties Jazz Orchestra — now a regular at the jazz club — mentored by Phil Hatton. They truly hold their own and are popular with all.

Kent Street Riverside Stompers closed out August. A very trad jazz month, which was well received by both new and long-time loyal patrons. Attendances were amazing, as was the feel-good energy. The atmosphere of the Milk Bar was exhilarating with superb music, and the dance floor got a workout with the talc soon ground into the woodwork.

Last month saw the introduction of the new look newsletter which is smart-phone friendly.

Thanks to Paul Bird and his diligent work to improve it. Read it on our website.

September... we have more amazing bands, (and variety!) including the Hills Big Band which is always well received. Each band is unique, with their own charm, persona, style, feel and arrangements. Let's enjoy them all. To kick off spring we'll have the Tin Roof Jazz Band. Ladies and gentlemen, get out your florals, just for fun — not compulsory of course — but for those that enjoy the spontaneity of the moment, go for it! I'm putting flowers in my hair — if my garden blooms in time !

Check out our website to see what's on. And of course, if you've subscribed to our mailing list, we'll remind you via email of each week's upcoming gig.

More exciting things are coming to the Jazz Club of WA. As you probably know, we support and promote traditional jazz in all forms; we're unique in WA in that regard. We mentor & support young and future musicians and inspire them to continue this happy and amazing form of jazz — to preserve it and to push it into the future. We will post more as soon as it crystalises; stay tuned. Coming in 2025: the Battle of the Bands for high school trad-jazz outfits. Read all about it below.

Stay healthy and safe. Socialize dearly. Stay connected. Be inspired. Music, dancing, and singing are the voices of the soul. All are welcome at our club, we don't judge.

See you in the Milk Bar at the Civic Hotel, Inglewood, WA.

Warm regards,

Caterina Ranieri

President

Phil's Jazz Chat

I was excited to hear that one of the world's greatest traditional jazz trumpeters/cornetists, Jon-Erik Kellso, will be coming to Australia as a guest of this year's Australian Jazz Convention. Jon-Erik is a wonderful player who I have had the privilege of hearing live on several occasions

The Australian Jazz Convention (AJC) is the world's longest running event of its type, having been started in 1946 by traditional jazz enthusiasts based in Melbourne. It is unusual in that it is not a jazz festival, but a non-profit convention for musicians and enthusiastic listeners to meet each other, network, and play/listen together. The musicians pay a fee to participate rather than being paid. It is held every year at different locations around the country from Boxing Day to New Year's Eve. This year it will be at Mildura.

SHORT BIO

Since moving from Detroit to NYC in 1989 to join Vince Giordano's Nighthawks, trumpeter Jon-Erik Kellso has enjoyed playing with a wide array of musical stylists, including Catherine Russel, Dick Hyman, Levon Helm, Leon Redbone, and Wynton Marsalis. He can be heard leading the EarRegulars at the historic Ear Inn in NYC on Sunday nights.

His sound is recognizable in television and movie soundtracks, such as "Ghost World", "The Aviator", "Bessie", "The Marvelous Mrs. Moisel", and "Boardwalk Empire" for which the nighthawks won a Grammy, as well as over 100 recordings including his most recent CD Jon-Erik Kellso and the EarRegulars Live at the Ear Inn.

About This Month's Bands

3 Sep Tin Roof Jazz Band

The Tin Roof Jazz Band commenced in 1986 when Roy Burton, President of the Jazz Club of WA, assembled six classically-trained musicians, including current leader Vivienne Kidd (piano), and later Martin Kidd (banjo). The band played three or four gigs a week plus regular gigs at the Jazz Club of WA, until 1994 when Martin and Vivienne relocated to Spain. Tin Roof has had a second life since Vivienne reformed the band about four years ago, with original players Mike, Tim and Steve and welcoming Dijon and Benn. These awesome musicians relish each other's work and know that the audience will love listening and dancing to their music as much as they enjoy playing it.

This is the first club night for spring. Why not dress in a floral theme? ...It's up to you.

10 Sep Hills Big Band

Hills Big Band bring their style and groove to any occasion. Its Swing... and it's a whole lot more too. They present the familiar Count Basie and Glenn Miller numbers and their two stunning vocalists skilfully cover the work of Frank Sinatra and Billie Holiday. And yet... the Hills Big Band leave no stone unturned, bringing you great arrangements of pieces by the Beatles, Michael Bublé, Earth Wind and Fire, Duke Ellington, Bon Jovi, Steely Dan, Van Morrison, Louis Prima, Quincy Jones and James Morrison. With their roots in the Perth Hills, they have grown to handle major gigs, for example filling the Ellington Jazz Club many times and featuring in the Live at the Northbridge Piazza series in 2012 and 2014.

Led by Musical Director Tom Salleo, future star trombonist/pianist and arranger, the members of the band are a disparate bunch from the Perth Hills and beyond. The players include professional musicians, teachers, ex-soldiers, university students, business people and retirees; all have a common interest in preserving and presenting all that's best in big band music.

17 Sep Cornerhouse Jazz Band

The Corner House Jazz Band plays traditional jazz with a hard-driving style, and is one of Australia's most accomplished jazz bands. The band was formed in 1980, playing at the Railway Hotel, North Fremantle, and still plays at the Swan Hotel nearby every Saturday afternoon. They have had a 20 year Friday-night residency at the famous Jazz Cellar in Mount Hawthorn. The Cellar jumps with the band's pumping and nostalgic repertoire, including New Orleans Jazz, Chicago styles, roaring 20s, Swing, Duke Ellington's Cotton Club jungle jazz, Louis Armstrong's Hot Fives and Sevens, John Phillip Sousa Marches, and... much, much more. The Cornerhouse Jazz Band has toured overseas, twice to the USA, to Malaysia, Japan, New Zealand and Borneo, and have played in all the Australian states.

We last had them in the club to celebrate St. Georges Day (pictured) and we're looking forward to hearing them on the 17th September.

24 Sep Doctor Jazz

Doctor Jazz have been playing at the Jazz Club for many years; their first jazz club gig was in 1998 at the Hyde Park Hotel when their singer, Tristan, was 14 years old! They play many traditional jazz favourites, American song book classics and jazz numbers from the great British jazz revival period, such as Acker Bilk and the Chris Barber Band.

From time to time the band has to adjust to a change in the line up due to the loss of a player because they have retired and in a couple of cases recently a band member has passed. This time their much-loved pianist Dave Cowie has decided it is time to retire and we thank him for his wonderful support and his unique style of playing over the last 3 -4 decades.

“Dr Jazz” are pleased to introduce their new pianist in her debut at the Club – Ali McKenzie. Ali is a classical pianist who trained at WAAPA . She has recently retired from her academic career and has decided to turn her attention to have some fun playing jazz. Please give her a big welcome.”

In Profile: Bob Benton

Paul talks to Bob.

Q. How did you get into music?

A. It was back in 1961, at East Victoria Park Primary School, when Sammy Maher started up a school brass band.

Q. How did you get interested in jazz?

A. Well, actually, all of my training was classical. And then one day somebody said “Dixie Kidd is looking for a trombone player”. That was about 1981; I would have been 33. He said “just play notes 1 & 5” and I got bored, so I started finding some other notes to play.

Q. You would have played with a few bands since then?

A. I have... importantly for me, I was actually a trombone player in the army band when they had a full-time army band here. I got paid to practice!

Q. Who are your favourite trombone players?

A. Without a doubt, Urbie Green and Bill Watrous. They've got all the technique in the world and they can really use it. They also have a real silky, smooth, creamy sound. If they're playing a ballad I really like that, and if they want to bring up the fireworks they've got the technique to do it.

Q. Who are your favourite musicians on other instruments?

A. You couldn't go far past Armstrong, because he basically invented the profession of being a jazz player. I like the big orchestral brass sounds of the London, Berlin & Chicago Symphony Orchestras. And...well there are so many great players, and so many idioms.

Q. Do you have any advice for young musicians wanting to get into jazz?

A. Can I quote Bill Watrous? “Keep your instrument clean, because that way it’s going to blow the same way all the time, and listen to lots of J.S. Bach, because that was all improvising”. Other than that, learn all your scales. You’ll probably hate playing scales, but learn them, because that’s what we base everything on: all your arpeggios, all of the tunes, they’re just combinations of bits of scales and arpeggios. And if you know those, and if you can train your ears to hear it, you’ll be fine. And, otherwise, just listen to lots of other people play jazz!

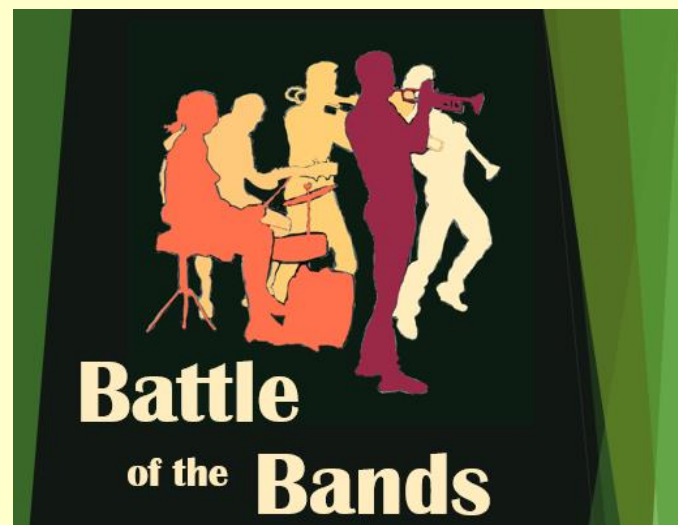

Battle of the Bands

Band Coordinator & VP Phil Hatton has started to field queries from high schools interested in competing in next year’s Battle of the Bands — with the final scheduled for 6th May 2025.

This trad jazz competition gives an opportunity for the next generation of WA musicians to strut their stuff, get some live gigging experience, and to learn more about traditional jazz.

The club’s support for this includes hosting the final, offering prizes towards the winning schools’ music program, providing charts where possible, and by arranging a tutorial clinic with the rehearsing bands.

We’ll keep you posted with updates in JazzNotes, and also do keep an eye on the Battle of the Bands page on our website.

Perth Jazz Men Tops In The East - 1949

The big band scene in the eastern states was a magnet for many post-war musicians from WA. Pianists Jim Riley and Ray Hartley got busy in Sydney, while Bob Gibson (reeds) and George Watson (drums) tried their luck in Melbourne and beyond.

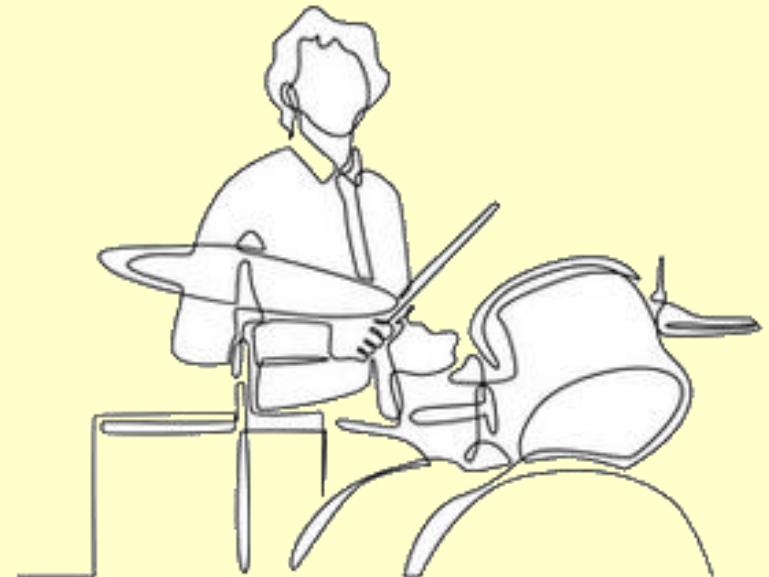

The Mirror (19 Feb 1949) kept tabs on these outstanding Perth jazz musicians who had gone east in this article.

The Australian Jazz Archive

A dedicated group of volunteers work in a cluster of mouse-proof shipping containers adjacent to a busy freeway in an outer Melbourne suburb to preserve Australia's jazz history. It's an amazing project with links to the National Film and Sound Archive in Canberra and benefitting from a bequest from the late Dame Elisabeth Murdoch.

Calling Musicians: Dave Cowie Tribute Night

On Tuesday 15th October our gig will be a tribute to Dave Cowie, on his retirement from his band piano playing. Dave is a life member of the Jazz Club of WA, a past president, a well loved and respected pianist, and is now in his nineties.

In honour of his musical career, the four bands he has been playing with in recent years, namely, Storyville, Heritage, Dr Jazz and Stevedores have decided to perform a 30 min set each on the night. Any musicians not normally associated with any of these bands, who would like to add their respect to Dave, are invited to sit-in for part of these sets.

If interested, please contact Martin Jones on 0402 094 833 or at lynwood@iinet.net.au
